From both picture above the art on the left side is call “สังคมไฮโซ”. It is an unrealistic art that about the high society party but there is a sarcasm. In the picture everybody is smile very weird and their eyes are very sham its look really fake. I interpret that artist want to tell us about life of high society mostly are all fake to each other they just pretend to be nice to others even though they don't like this person for their benefit. They can forsaken each other if that person is useless for them. For the picture on the right side is the picture of people in thailand back in the past. They live with their family inside the boat along on the ayutthaya river. They use a really peaceful life with their family . There is no fake in the right picture. Both of picture are contrast to each other in the way of emotion of the picture. The left picture you can feel that there is a feeling of faking but on the right picture you can feel no fake but quiet peaceful instead.
